The Man in the Glass

Then there came Laddu.

Golu, get off my car.
If you want to play on a car, go climb on your father's car and play.

Golu reached home crying and narrated the incident to his mother.

Mom,
when will we
have our car?

Have patience beta. We will get our car soon. You can then go around in the car and play
on it too.

Today I have pacified Golu by giving him a toffee, but how should I explain to him everyday?

You and Laddu's father are on the same post. But their children study in an expensive public school.

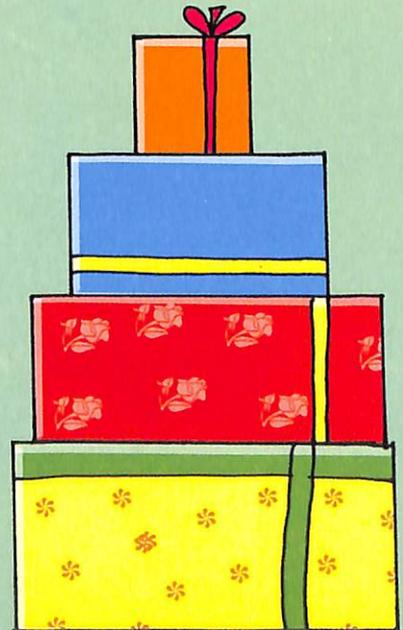

His wife also wears expensive sarees and keeps on buying new jewellery.

Not only this, big cars often stop outside their house.

People coming in those cars also bring gifts.

Yes, Usually relatives do not bring gifts every day.

Can't we buy a car like him?

How do I explain? After meeting the household expenses, Golu's school fees and the EMI for home loan, there is hardly anything left.

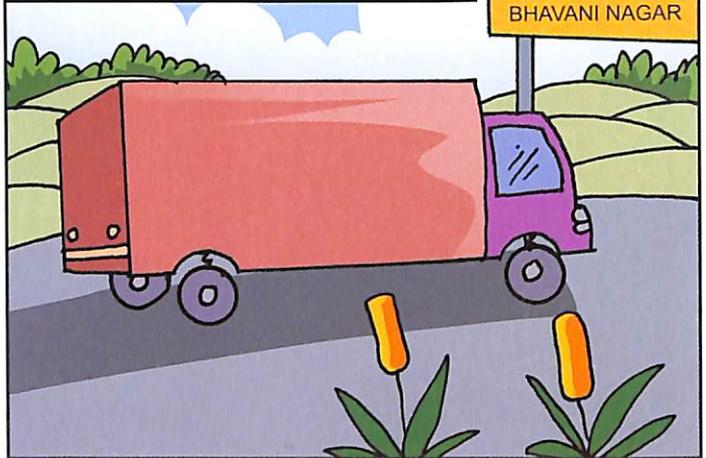

Golu's mother understands this very well. Golu's father gives his entire salary to her every month.

She also knows how much is left at the end of the month.

Meanwhile, Laddu's father get transferred to another city.

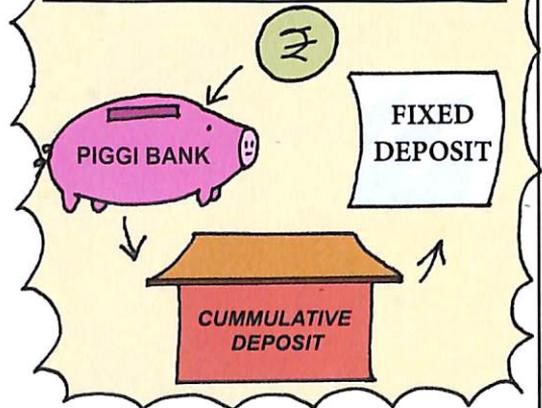

After few years

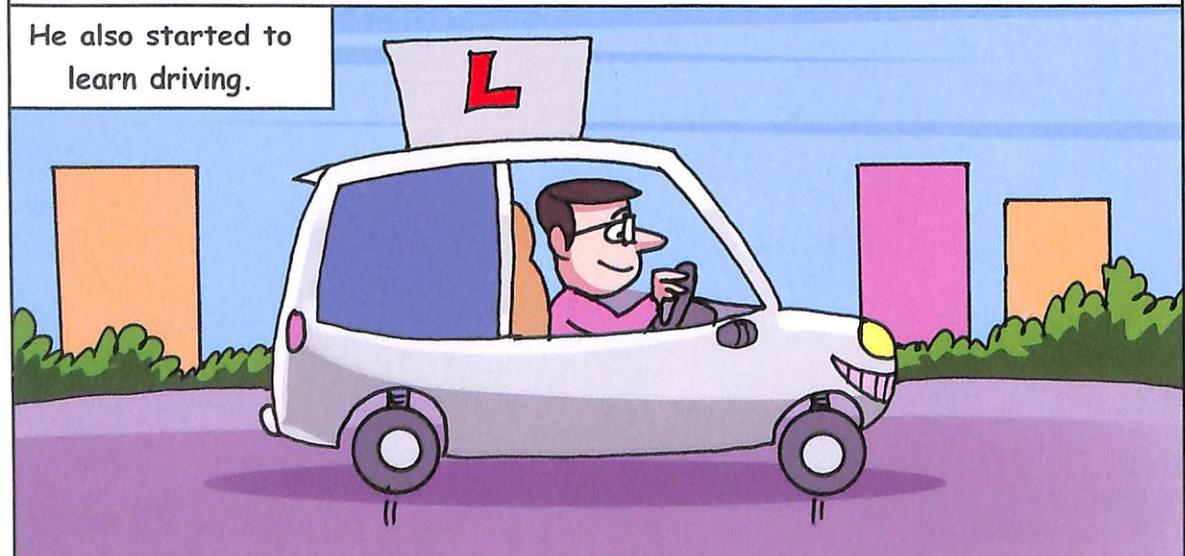

Due to his hard work, dedication and honesty, Golu's father was soon promoted.

In the meantime, he could also save some money.

He also started to learn driving.

Inside a Bank

Sir, your paperwork is complete.

By next week
your car loan will be approved.

Thank you,
I am going to share
this good news with my family.

A week later Golu is very happy to see their new car.

His father drove him around in the car the whole day.

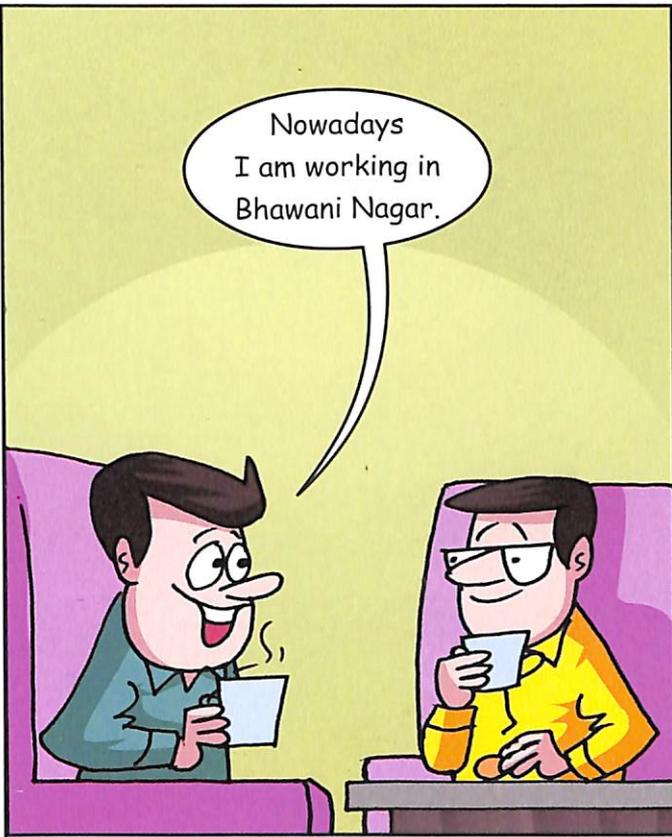

One day Laddu's father came to visit them.

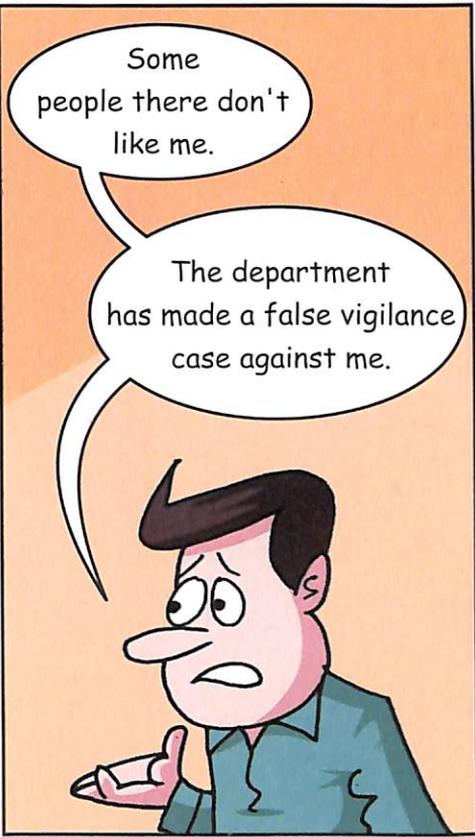

Golu's mother serves tea.

Nowadays
I am working in Bhawani Nagar.

Some
people there don't like me.

The department
has made a false vigilance
case against me.

You are in the vigilance section of Mantralaya.

Oh yes,

Please consider my case sympathetically.

And it is also proved on the basis of evidence.

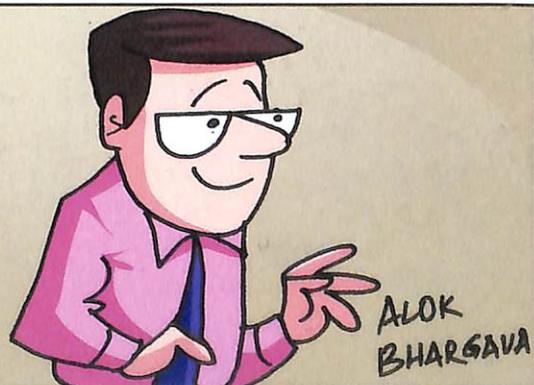

He was earlier warned about all this.

What a dilemma! How do I save my ex-neighbour?
I am duty bound to act against corruption.

Golu's father performed his duty as usual and Laddu's father was punished by the department as per rules.

ALOK BHARGAVA

STAY RIGHTEOUS TO COMBAT CORRUPTION

- Many a times, the temptation to lead a luxurious life by any means compels one to adopt corrupt practices.
- The most dangerous aspect is the tendency of justifying the unethical act.
- One of the effective ways of dealing with such mindset is to inculcate the virtue of being righteous, simple and straight forward.
- There are public servants who attach utmost value to ethical behaviour and set example for others.
- One should perform one's duty with full devotion and dedication without getting influenced by the so-called social pressure.
